All premises licensed for selling beer in Edmonton, Calgary and Drumheller have been instructed to restrict sales in such a way that a small supply at least will be available to customers during the hours of the premises, but others are not, an inequitable situation has resulted.

"This will effectively control the distribution and so on, and the 'beer' will be sold in a more equitable manner," said the public J. A. King, chairman of the Alberta Liquor Control Board, announced Friday.

"The very limited supply of beer, wine and liquor has been a very difficult situation for all those who are in any way associated with the distribution of such products," says the statement issued by the chairman of the liquor board.

Norse, Danes Still Resisting Nazi Occupation

By JACK FLEISCHER
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
COPENHAGEN, April 8.—(CP)—The third anniversary of Nazi occupation of Denmark today found the people of that country still resisting the Danes under threats of reprisals and the Norwegians by staging their annual stave at home demonstration.

Every report from Denmark told of the German demands on that country. A well informed traveler said German Hermann von Hanneken had delivered ultimatum to the Danish government requiring that sabotage be stopped and control of Danish industry and business be delivered to the Germans.

It was believed that these demands would be submitted to the next riksdag (parliament) meeting April 15 and would be rejected. To that event, Hanneken was expected to order a complete dissolution of civil government, sending the leaders home and impose occupation control similar to that in Norway.

TO GET EXCUSE

(Some believe the Nazis may have deliberately staged the recent wave of sabotage in Denmark to get an excuse for such action.) As they have done this last two years, all Norwegian demands for the Quilings—perhaps 50,000, or 1 per cent of the population—stayed at home except when they had to leave on business.

The British Arctic ship Vilken Quilting, pupil premier of Norway, had been compelled to call at home port when they had to leave on business.

PAVLOV'S STAY HOME
The Norwegian underground asked all patriots to stay home after 5 p.m. leaving the streets of Oslo and down downtown Oslo.

The Quilings probably will hold their regular April 9 celebrations. They are expected to be disorderly.

The Norwegian occupation has been different than that in Denmark, which has been comparatively mild. The Germans officially have admitted 100,000 German troops in Norway in three years' claim for a last conversation.

The Norwegians refused to associate with Germans and find many of them quietly sabotaging industry and slow down production.

Tunisian Army Junction Great Shipping Relief

By EDWARD KENNEDY
SOMEWHERE IN NORTH AFRICA, April 8.—(AP)—Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, deputy commander in chief, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower in charge of all land operations, today told the junction of British and United States forces in southern Tunisia would mean a tremendous relief to the British and the United States.

He explained in a discussion of the Tunisian campaign with war correspondents that the junction opened the way for supplying the British 8th Army from French North Africa, instead of from the Middle East, and it would no longer be necessary for so many ships to be used to transport supplies to the Cape of Good Hope.

PAID TROOPS TRIUMPH
Gen. Alexander paid the highest tribute to all troops under his command.

He said the 8th Army had fought brilliantly and the U.S. 2nd Corps had met them with equal valor. The victory at the El Alami, he said, permitted the 8th Army to break through the Axis lines, where the British extended to within 10 miles of the sea, into the water coastal strip.

There, he said, Gen. Montgomery's forces, as he said, could be used more advantageously.

The general also expressed admiration for the British 1st Army in the north and said French troops had done very well.

OPONENTS TOUGH
His praise even extended to the enemy—at least to the extent that the British and the United States forces were hard fighters and tough opponents, he said.

He conceded that in recent weeks the British and the United States forces had not been cut off, but said that even if an advance had been made, it would have been a difficult job to keep the British and the United States forces from breaking through.

Gen. Alexander, wearing his boots, a battle jacket, and a sword, was seen in the company of a French official, appeared here and heavy and in good luck. He said the correspondence of a brief stopover on a trip from one part of the front to another.

He said tuberculosis is the major cause of death in adults under 25 years of age, and that it has increased since the outbreak of war. On the other hand, it has decreased in children.

He said that the tuberculosis rate in Canada is one of the highest in the world, and that it is a major cause of death in 20 years.

Takes Big Gambles Highly Publicized Rommel Has Made Plenty of Costly Military Mistakes to Date

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1943, by British United Press

ON THE NORTH TUNISIAN FRONT, April 9.—Field Marshal Erwin Rommel is a brilliant military gambler but five times in the past battle for Tunisia he has made a gambler's mistake—and now Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery has called all the bets of the Nazi "desert fox."

Not So Smart
The story of how Rommel again and again risked his chips on a single throw of the dice and how many times he failed now that he is in the hands of the British, is a story of military mistakes to date.

Like the great panzer general, Greta von Rommel, who cut his teeth on the Russian front, Rommel is a gambler.

But now Montgomery's methodical blows aimed at ending the Tunisian campaign have ended the gambler's luck. Even today, his gambler's eye is still sharp.

He is a gambler, and he is a gambler's eye. He is a gambler's eye, and he is a gambler's eye.

reported to be determined to control the basic prices in order to prevent future pressures on retail prices.

MAY BAR INCREASE

The order, coming at a time when John L. Lewis is demanding $2-a-day wage increase for coal miners, appeared to bar any increase for them unless their present pay was at least 10 per cent below the minimum.

The Little Steel formula authorizes pay level of Jan. 1, 1941, to compensate for increased living costs. How ever, the miners received a year ago an increase in excess of 15 per cent.

Mr. Roosevelt said, however, that his order was not to prevent "reasonable adjustments of wages and salaries in case of promotions, reclassifications, merit increases, incentive wages or other special circumstances."

Chairman Bradette ruled the order applied to Mr. Hays's personal affairs only. E. K. Perley, Prog. Com. Qu-Appeal, complained that the order would put farm for farmers was too complicated and should be made simpler.

M. J. Colwell, C.C.F. leader, asked the farmer was to be charged up the time and labor put into farm production by his wife and children.

R. W. Maybank, L.L. Winnipeg, said the order was a similar situation existed in the case of grocery stores which are operated by the wife and children without any specific salaries.

W. K. M. (C.P.) said the first problem of a farmer was to make enough money to get out of the income tax paying class. Mr. Norris endorsed these appeals for recognition of the value of the service given by the farm wife.

URGENT EXEMPTION

Robert Parr suggested that farmers be entirely removed from the exemption program. He said 750,000 farmers in Canada were paid an income tax some times less than 200 of that in a year.

Over the past 10 years an average of 1,151 farmers have paid an average of $20,000 a year, said Mr. Parr, and he did not believe that would more than pay the collection cost.

Many farmers had not seen of the modern luxuries and conveniences such as cars, radios and bathroom, and no class of citizens used a bath more than the dirt farmer, Mr. Parr said. He was desiring of every consideration.

Mr. Colwell said the whole thing must be halted out and the business must lose money. If a farmer was charged interest, he said he had under-estimated the income tax situation. He said he allowed interest also on over-payments.

REBATE PAYABLE

Revenue Minister Gibson said a rebate would be payable in the event of a large loss, and Finance Minister Lloyd said it was a "fundamental principle" that the government would not pay a person overpaid his tax on three of four quarterly installments, he said.

Mr. Colwell said professional men, small business men, the most often had to carry the farming community from the spring until the fall. There was no income on the farms in that period.

Mr. Hays said the new taxation system should make the condition of the farmer as good as that mentioned by Mr. Colwell. Three years taxes would be paid this year, he said.

Mr. Colwell said the new taxation system would be strong out through the year.

Yanks Survive Long Ordeal in Quebec Wilds

U.S. ARMY AIRFIELD, PRESQUE ISLE, Me., April 9.—(AP)—Mission accomplished with neither loss of personnel nor damage to equipment—thus the United States Air Transport Command yesterday completed a hair-raising story that began two months ago when a cargo plane was forced down in a swampy, fuel supply in Quebec's uncharted wilderness.

It was the story of 20 men who lived for days in the frozen marshes, some from even gaining weight. BLOWN OFF COURSE

It began shortly after midnight Feb. 3 when a large, four-engine cargo plane of the Air Transport Command, C-54, took off from a runway in a Quebec town, en route to a landing at Presque Isle.

The men of the C-54 had a crude shelter on the wooded lake shore, but protection from temperatures that ranged from 20 to 70 degrees below zero.

A great snow fireplace was erected in front of the plane, and several blankets and a few foodstuffs were dropped by planes which were unable to effect a landing at the moment.

The men of the C-54 kept up their search and finally definitely positioned the lost aircraft's position. Working in shifts, the stranded men in an unbroken effort to clear a runway and the rescue plane was flown out with its crew on Feb. 24.

Starts Fireworks Refuse Govt. Control For BBC Services

LONDON, April 9.—(CP)—Brendan Bracken, minister of information, yesterday refused suggestions made by the House of Commons that the ministry of information take over all the services of the British Broadcasting Corporation.

Bracken said that the British public "does not want government interference in the way the BBC is run." He added that the government would not take over all the services of the BBC.

GOVT RESPONSIBLE

The minister said, however, that the government would be responsible for everything broadcast in the European services of the BBC.

After the minister spoke the house adjourned by a vote of 130 to 100. The House of Commons then adjourned.

Bracken said that the BBC has more than 1,500,000 listeners on news story put out by the BBC, and suggested by the House of Commons that the ministry of information take over all the services of the BBC.

Storage of Eggs Now Prohibited Without Permits

OTTAWA, April 9.—(CP)—The special products board of the agriculture department issued an order yesterday stipulating that no liquid or frozen whole egg, egg yolk or egg albumen shall be placed in storage in Canada except under written permit of the board. The order is now effective.

Another order effective immediately provides that no grade "A" large eggs shall be used for the manufacture of liquid or frozen eggs in any form except under written permit of the board.

The board said the purpose of the order was to ensure that eggs intended to fill contracts for other requirements were not diverted to the home market.

Vital Cogs in Allied Machine Are Tended at City Plant

Women Performing Vital, Important War Duties At Aircraft Repair Ltd.

This is another in a series of articles about persons employed at the large Aircraft Repair Ltd. plant in the northeast section of the city. Aircraft from all parts of Western Canada, used in the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan, are repaired and rebuilt at Aircraft Repair Ltd.—EDITOR.

Boys and girls together for the purpose of tripping the light fantastic, or for staging a big live jamboree always has been considered a highly desirable state of affairs. But how do boys and girls together at the work bench get along?

Chairman

E. T. Love, managing director, Woodland Dairy Co. Ltd., and chairman of a special committee of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, dealing with road maintenance and snow clearance in Edmonton. A report on the findings of the committee has been forwarded to the City Commissioners asking for a more aggressive road maintenance policy in Edmonton. (See story Page 1.)

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION
Will the German and Italian high commands attempt to evacuate their troops from North Africa?

THE ANSWER
GERALD O'CONNOR, K.C.: It would appear that the Germans are attempting to make a last ditch stand in North Africa, and will not try to get their troops off as the British did at Dunkirk.

The massing of large British naval forces in the Mediterranean off the North African coast would make the venture a very difficult and extremely costly one for the Germans and Italians. The fact that the Germans have turned the command in Africa over to Italians would indicate that no evacuation is likely.

HARRY OLIVER, clerk: I do not think that they will have a chance of attempting the evacuation. The attack is too strong and too swift for that. I look for fighting by the German and Italian forces to delay as long as possible the conquest of North Africa.

PERCY FREDERICKS, bookkeeper: It would appear to me that the only course open to Rommel is to try and salvage as many men as possible from the rout. To fight it out means either death or capture, so I am of the opinion that a desperate effort will be made to evacuate all the Germans possible either by air, or by seaborne transportation. Rommel will see to it that the Italians are left to defend his rear guard as usual.

Men and Women Form Highly Successful Work Teams

As the workshop relationship between men and women is a technical phenomenon of the war and something brand new to Canada in general, and Edmonton in particular, the Edmonton Bulletin felt it would be of interest to secure information on the subject at first hand.

Aircraft Repair Ltd. proved a first class laboratory from which to obtain a scientifically correct verdict.

Veteran shop foremen who have never had women working for them before admit that well-trained girls are fully the equal of men at the lathe, and on the assembly line. These same foremen admit that they were from Missouri and had to be "shown." When women were first employed at Aircraft Repair Ltd. most of the male workers were skeptical.

With forcible naturalness the moles grumbled, "It will never work. They'll talk too much, spend too much time powdering their noses or gawking about last night's party, were a few of the predictions made by the dominant male."

GREATER CANDOR
Others, with greater candor just declared: "Women haven't got the brains to do this kind of work." But they've all had to change their tune. And to do the men just the same you must admit they displayed real sportsmanship in winning up to the fact they had been wrong in the first place.

According to an article in the Saturday Evening Post, New York City is on the way toward becoming another ghost town. And although the title of "ghost town" may be a trifle of an exaggeration, the article reveals some startling facts about present-day New York City that come as a shock to a person who had the feeling that America's largest city is experiencing a war-time boom.

The real trouble with New York City seems to lie in the fact it is the headquarters in America for luxury goods, no longer manufactured under conditions.

The "big town" has no steel mills like Pittsburgh, no huge assembly line plants such as Detroit and Cleveland, and no mushrooming airplane plants like Seattle and Los Angeles.

Right now, according to the article, there are thousands of unemployed men in New York City. The "big town" has no steel mills like Pittsburgh, no huge assembly line plants such as Detroit and Cleveland, and no mushrooming airplane plants like Seattle and Los Angeles.

Communities Give Support To Playground

Edmonton Federation of Community Leagues at a regular meeting held Thursday evening its support behind efforts of the Local Council of Women to have the former Boyle Street baseball field made into a permanent playground for small children.

The federation passed a motion endorsing action of the women's council which will be forwarded to the city council. Members of the federation said that a fence be erected around the park so that small children will not need to play on the streets. The need for the park has never been greater, members stated, several serious accidents having occurred through children playing on streets in the east end of the city.

PERCY Cowley, vice-president, was elected federation delegate to a special committee of the Alberta Teachers Association studying post-war reconstruction.

CARNIVAL PLANS
Plans were also completed for the grand carnival and dance to be held by the Federation at the Memorial hall on Tuesday evening of next week. Proceeds will be devoted to the Canadian Red Cross.

Motion pictures of scenes along the Alaska Highway and of other parts of the north were shown to the membership by Len McKinnon, of C.P. Air Lines public relations department.

Percy Cowley was in the chair.

I Saw Today

Girl Guilty Theft

Activities allegedly stolen from the collection of an 80 year old resident about two months ago, were found in the home of a 16-year-old girl. As a result, she appeared in juvenile court April 8 where she pleaded guilty to 13 other charges of theft, and was placed on one year's suspended sentence.
